The Press-Spectator says that John Kizzell of Excelsior Springs was in Salisbury Tuesday on business connected with the Neal hotel. The editor of the Sumner Star tells the wonderful story of his having ridden on a real railroad ticket paid for with real money for the first time in many years Saturday when he made a trip to Hale. He expected the conductor to faint with surprise, but he took the ticket and passed on as if he were always used to seeing editors pay for riding.

Bitten by a Spider.

Through blood poisoning caused by a spider bite, John Washington of Bosqueville, Tex., would have lost his leg, which became a mass of running sores had he not been persuaded to try Bucklen's Brnica Salve. He writes: "The first application relieved, and four boxes healed all the sores." Heals every sore. 25c at E. W. Herring's drugstore.

The following item is taken from the Triplett Tribune of last week: "Dave Johnson bought of Sterl Robertson his half interest in the farm they owned in the bottom for $6,000. The farm contains a fraction over 211 acres. They bought the farm of Gay Dobyns last fall. It is said to be one of the best producing bottom farms in the county. It is also well supplied in a big variety of fruit. Its fruit yield this summer would have been enormous if the freeze Friday hadn't killed it almost entirely."

A New Secret Order.

Crate No. 1, Illustrious Order of the Lemon, has been organized in Milwaukee. The officers of the crate are as follows: Grand lemon, grand lemon peel and the grand lemon squeeze. The members are all well-known young girls in society circles. The following is the initiation code, which each candidate must sing before being made a member:

I'm a lemon, I'm a lemon,
I'm a lemon all right;
I've been squeezed, I've been squeezed,
I've been squeezed quite tight.

According to the Press-Spectator, John E. Wood, in company with a veterinary surgeon from Carrollton, drove out west of Salisbury Saturday night to see a sick horse. Gus Dameron, col., acted as driver. As they drove along, Mr. Wood and the doctor spoke of the "stiff" which they were going to get on the trip and which was to be shipped to Carrollton. Gus picked up his ears. The carriage stopped at a lonely part of the road, and Mr. Wood said: "Here it is," and he and the doctor jumped out. The body of a man lay on the road-side stiff and stark. "We'll put it on the front seat by Gus," Mr. Wood said, stooping to lift the body. Gus waited to hear no more. He gave one wild leap from the carriage and started toward town as if blown by a cyclone. The corpse, who was one of the neighborhood boys previously instructed by Mr. Wood, then sat up and all listened to Gus' foot beats as he hustled away.

"Pneumonia's Deadly Work

had so seriously affected my right lung," writes Mrs. Fannie Connor, of Rural Route 1, Georgetown, Tenn., "that I coughed continuously night and day and the neighbors' prediction—consumption—seemed inevitable, until my husband brought home a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery, which in my case proved to be the only REAL cough cure and restorer of weak, sore lungs." When all other remedies utterly fail, you may still win in the battle against lung and throat trouble with New Discovery, the REAL cure. Guaranteed by E. W. Herring, druggist. 50c. and $1. Trial bottle free.

A horse belonging to Nathan Williams which he hitched in Armstrong Friday evening broke loose and ran down the street, breaking a shaft of the buggy.

We are informed by the Tribune that F. A. Hunt's team of mules ran away in Triplett Saturday night about 10:30 and painfully injured Mr. Hunt, Pete Allega and W. M. Timmons, who were in the wagon. They had just gotten in the wagon and started home when the mules began to run. The team missed the ditch bridge below the hotel and dumped all the parties. Mr. Hunt's little boy was also in the wagon, but he escaped without injury. Messrs. Allega and Hunt, who were apparently seriously hurt, were carried to the hotel where they were given medical attention. At 5 o'clock the next morning they were able to be taken home. While the accident was bad enough, all concerned should thank the fates that no one was killed.

A lady solicitor for the Moberly Monitor in Huntsville succeeded in getting "Uncle" Jim Robertson of that place to subscribe for the paper. Incidentally, he learned that she was a "maiden lady," and Uncle Jim is a widower, hitherto invulnerable to Cupid's darts.
